You

Patience | 5 of Swords

There is quite a lot going around you within your relationships. I feel that with work, and I will dive further into details when I get to that placement, that things are going okay, but when it comes to love and your family relationships, or friends and social circles, things could be better.

You are waiting for something to take form and it seems that its just not going fast enough, and then there is also this push of facing certain things that are still keeping you in the past, or causing this delay of movement. Take a deep breathe, and try your best to find your center and to relax. Everything is happening in divine timing for you and by rushing things, you will only push them away, or even cause the delay to become even longer.

I also feel that your needs, or opinions and thoughts are not being taken into consideration by those you need to get your point across to. They refuse to see things your way, or they are too limited and need time to digest it. You have to be patient and draw back from trying to push the situation any further. If you continue to resist the delay or blockage that is before you, then you will only exhaust yourself mentally and even emotionally, causing you to project your frustrations elsewhere that can cause even more trouble for you. Take a break, or find a way out for now.

Your Love Life

XX Judgement | Limitless | 7 of Pentacles

Your love life isn't exactly going as you would desire. You are waiting for something to take form, however, there are things within the past which are blocking you. This could very well be your own perspective that it causing the limit on obtaining what you desire. Also it is just not time yet. You have to trust in the Universe to provide what you need when you need it – not want, but need. Also, sometimes there is more time needed to think things through, or to officially make amends with the past.

You might be harboring resentments or the pain you feel from what others did to you, is still there. You have to forgive, even if its hard and you haven't received the apology you feel you deserve – you owe it to yourself to forgive and move on, so to not allow your past to control your future and perspective on love. You cannot move into a healthy relationship with the mentality of dealing with someone who is toxic still. It will cause you to sabotage a good thing, and also may push to you go back to the past and attract people who represent that toxicity – and you might avoid those red flags or standing up for yourself because you are so used to the chaos.

The cards are saying that you really need to look deep within and release what still stains you. It is a process, a journey, and will not happen overnight. It is the key element in attracting the healthy and loving relationships you desire.

Do not rush into anything with love right now, slow down, and take a break for yourself.

Your Relationships

XVI the Tower | Emotions | 4 of Cups

Again, the past is coming back to tear down everything you thought you had desired and wanted. You cannot control your emotions, nor can you muster up the hope to see things in a better light, or to be hopeful about the future. Your concerns on love and the quality of your relationships are major here in this reading because it feels as if you are just not happy with the way things are going, and cannot see them getting any better.

Taking a break for yourself so to analyze what is going on within your heart will help you. It will take time, but it will help. Do not rush into anything, or hang around the same people who make you feel less or that you aren't appreciated.

I also feel that certain relationships in your life might have lost their magic, or you are going separate ways. Something had happened, and it is related to the past, which caused this to happen. You feel like you have no control of the situation and this is all doom and gloom now.

You may want to consider therapy – or counselling where you can talk to someone regularly about your emotions and also about the past. Talking helps. It allows you to release, and to make sense of what had happened, so you can find the tools to heal and cope. I do feel that you might suffer from depression, or PTSD possibly that has induced it, and you are not reaching out enough to the right people to seek help. You can't keep convincing yourself that you are hard as stone and strong enough to deal on your own, reaching out and finding support within the right people will uplift you, and push you towards healing even faster.

Your Career & Finances

8 of Pentacles | Intuition | the Lovers

There is an opportunity that is coming your way (if it hasn't already) and it would be wise to take it. You may have to invest a lot of your time, energy, and possibly even not make as much money, but that will change and you will definitely receive what is rightfully due, and then some.

You feel this is right too, but you might be talking yourself out of it because of the issues going on in other places within your life right now. Perhaps the relationship you have with current coworkers is the best, and you are looking for a new career with better energy. Or you feel stuck and that you need to grow and move onto new levels. Whatever it may be, change is coming, and it is going to be extremely helpful. Be sure to jump on this opportunity and to really push yourself into learning all that you can.

If you have been considering going back to school, but are worried about your finances, then rest assured that you will be able to make it work, and will be much happier with the changes.

You know that once you take this on, everything will change and there is no going back to the way things were before. Don't allow that reality to become something to fear, and know that this is an upgrade that you not only deserve, but that is going to change your life for the better.

Soul

Page of Wands | Sacred Journey | 3 of Wands

A lot of what you are going through stems from your environment and the people you associate yourself with. Its time to leave the past behind and to go within, so to reconnect with yourself, and then to make the changes your higher self leads you to. Listen to that inner voice – not what other people think, say, or feel about you and your journey, just how you feel.

You are going through a shift in your relationships and social circle, it is not easy, but it is going to be highly beneficial. You are scared about taking a step on this uncharted territory, or feel that you are being forced outside your comfort zone, but once you adjust to the changes, things will be so much better for you.

Associate with those who inspire you and push you to believe in more. Do not remain in the energy that causes you to think lowly about yourself or your future. Rise up and those who not elevate to your level, and try to bring you back down, need to remain in the past.
